DE LEVRON'S VERSION.

The Zabiaka's Celebrated Commander Gives His Side of the Sealing Seizures.

Russia Will Guard Copper Island Rookeries With Five Men-of-War Next Year.

Ivan Petroff Has Been Falsifying Evidence Before the Sealing Commission.

SAN FRANCISO, Nov. 14.—The late commander of the Russian cruiser Zabiaka, which seized and confiscated the American sealing schooner, C. H. White and a number of British schooners during the past season, while in Russian waters in the vicinity of Copper Island, arrived yesterday from Yokohama on the City of Peking. He comes from Petropaulovsky, which place he lef ton September 28th, and is on his way to St. Petersburg. In an interview he said;

"I have read the published reports from sealers who had their vessels taken away from them by myself and other officers, which they have given to the press on their return home, and they are greatly exaggerated. We confiscated only one American schooner, the C. H. White, and Capt. Fuhrman and his men have nothing to complain of, unless it is their own fault in going too close to the rookeries trying to kill seals on Copper Island. The crew of the White were given enough to eat and drink until they reached Vladivostock, where they were given some rations daily as prisoners of war, although they were free to leave whenever they got a chance. After the crews of several British sealers were turned loose with the crew of the White, the men began to raise disturbances, and in one instance I sent an armed force to stop it. When the bark Majestic took 50 of the sealers on board and sailed for Victoria, B.C., we were glad to get rid of them. When I left Petropaulovsky two Russian men-of-war, the Iakuth and Bobre, had not returned from their cruise in Behring sea, so I cannot state positively that no further seizures than already reported have been made. Next year will see a very close guard kept on the Russian seal islands, and five men-of-war will cruise around for that purpose alone. It will make no difference where a sealing schooner is found, for they will be seized regardless of locality. The Russian islands have suffered heavily from poachers this past season, but they will do little more damage in that direction, if I am not mistaken."

Petroff Is a Great Talker.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—When Louis Straus of the Alaska Commercial Company was shown a Washington dispatch stating that Ivan Petroff had furnished Government with false information in regard to the sealing industry putting the United States in the wrong, he said: "This is important and its effect may be of national importance. The issue at stake at present is not local, but international, and it is galling if American interests are to suffer through the prefidy of a schemer. I know this Ivan Petroff, he was at one time deputy collector of customs in Alaska, and afterwards census agent. He has written a great deal about that country and talked more. Of course, in the absence of any definite idea of the nature of the information furnished to the Government, it is impossible to criticize it, but of necessity it must bear on the sealing industry in relation to the demand and supply of seals. Petroff could doubtless supply any information required with all the authority of an expert. It would hardly be probable that he could have been bought by any of the local interests, for as I say the issues are national and we are all interested in presenting a good case. The rights at present enjoyed by the North American Company, were accorded by bids, and Petroff's information could have had nothing to do with that award. The idea suggested in the dispatch that British gold has been used may be correct. Anyway I have no hesitancy in saying that this Petroff is a schemer, and that if any of his information has been found to have been falsified it was wilfully falsified."

Daly Dined at Calgary.

CALGARY, Nov. 14.—The banquet to Hon. T. M. Daly given Friday night by the citizens of Calgary was an immense success. The hall was filled with the prominent business men of Calgary and ranchmen of the surrounding district, with a number of visitors from other western towns. Notwithstanding his painful accident, Mr. Daly early in the day announced his intention of being present, though forbidden by his physicians. At the appointed hour he entered the hall on crutches, meeting with a rousing reception. After the usual and patriotic toasts, Mayor Lucas proposed "Our Guest," prefacing his remarks by stating that nowhere from the Atlantic to the Pacific was Mr. Daly's elevation to his present position received with more unbounded satisfaction than here. Mr. Daly was the right man, one to whom they could go with their requests, sure of their receiving proper consideration. He closed with a wish that Mr. Daly might long fill the portfolio of Minister of the Interior.

The Crown Not Responsible.

QUEBEC, Nov. 14.—Among the witnesses examined before Judge Burbidge in the exchequer court was Prof. Bovey of McGill University, Montreal, who witnessed the effects of cold and heat and sudden changes of temperature upon metals, and especially upon the iron and steel of railway rails, wheels and axles. This was in connection with Intercolonial railway disaster at St. Joseph de Levis in 1890. The Government's contention was that the accident was caused not by defective construction of the road or excessive speed, but by uncontrollable causes. The witness stated that seven degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, was sufficient to produce crystallization, and that car wheels and axles then became weaker, and were more liable to break. A number of other witnesses were also heard this forenoon and afternoon, when the evidence was declared closed, and on motion of Mr. Osler, for the Ottawa Government, Judge Burbidge nonsuited the private claim for damages on account of the accident. In accordance with the judgment of the Supreme Court in the case of McLeod vs. the Queen, he decided that the crown could not be considered a common carrier, and consequently that the onus of the proof in this case must rest with the suppliants. In the second place he decided that from evidence adduced it could not be claimed that the disaster in question had been shown to have resulted from negligence on the part of any particular officer of the crown. Judgment was therefore in favor of the Queen.

COAL AT WESTMINSTER.

A Promising Strike on the South Side Which Will be Worked.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 14.—In the opera house this evening the Clansdestine Amateur Dramatic Society played "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

A three-inch seam of coal has been struck at South Westminster, about 80 feet from the surface. The coal is of excellent quality and steam power will be put in to work it within the next few days.

The sheriff to-day took charge of Surrey municipality to strike a rate to levy on the ratepayers for the sum of $2,292.08, interest due the Bank of Montreal on dyking debentures.

The council to-night will consider the question of quarantine against Washington as to smallpox, which is said to be more rampant there.

The Beagens, Pearl Deming and Birdie Kazae were up in police court this morning. The case will be ready to proceed to-morrow when it will probably conclude. All looked well enough after their imprisonment. The best counsel in the city are engaged on the case.

SLIPPERY CUSTOMERS.

Smallpox Suspects Who Long to Roam—The Mayoralty—Bills of Sale.

VANCOUVER, Nov. 14.—On Saturday afternoon two men escaped from the smallpox quarantine station, but were recaptured late at night. One again slipped away at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning, but one of the guards subsequently found him. They will be put in irons.

Mayor Cope, Ald. Odlum and Ald. McGuigan are mentioned as probable candidates for the mayoralty, though none of them is considered strong. Ald. Odlum in a letter to the News-Advertiser on Sunday morning urges the claim of Vancouver to have a representative in the executive council of the province. The letter is considered to be bait for support in the coming mayoralty contest. Even the doughty alderman is suspected of having a covetous eye on the post of Minister of Education.

Counsel has been retained by a city contractor to press a claim for extras on street work, and further developments threaten to disclose serious blunders in the city engineer's department.

The Board of Trade will make a protest to the Government against the present law on bills of sale, by which eastern wholesalers have lost heavily, and they now threaten to do business on a cash basis.

Imperial Federation.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The special committee appointed by the council of the Imperial Federation League to consider definite proposals for the federation of the self governing bodies of the British Empire, has presented an exhaustive and very important report. The committee suggests the formation of an imperial council to give a united voice to the empire in time of peace, and to enable the defence of the empire in time of war to be undertaken by its united forces and resources. The counsel it holds should consist of members appointed by each self-governing country, also of a British prime minister, the secretary of state for foreign affairs, for war, for the colonies and for India and of the first lord of the admiralty and the chancellor of the exchequer. The method of raising funds at the outset should be left to the choice of the self-governing states, but a uniform principle might afterwards be found and substituted. The committee proposes that an impartial conference be summoned to consider the question. The conference, if it is deemed necessary, to be preceded by a royal commission. The committee closes its report with a strong appeal to the ministry to take action in this direction.

Cholera Suspected.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—It is reported that there are five cases of sickness on board the Allen steamship Circassian, now off Father Point, and that orders have been given to stop her at the Grosse Isle quarantine. No authentic news has been received here yet, but Dr. Lachapelle, of the Provincial Health Board says he has received a dispatch that there are five cases of sickness on board, but will not say what they are.

Talking It Over.

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—The international committee of the House of Commons has been sitting all afternoon discussing the troubles in the accountant's branch. The deputy Minister of Justice with them. It is not likely that anything will be done until the arrival of Sir John Thompson to-morrow.

Merely Dysentery.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—It is officially denied that there is cholera on the steamer Circassian of the Allan line from Liverpool. A Swiss family of five had dysentery and one child died on the voyage, thus giving rise to the rumor that there was cholera.

THE LOSS OF THE BOKHARA.

Her Commander Refused to Heave to in Face of a Tremendous Typhoon.

Locomotive Boiler Explosion Near Reading, Pa., With Loss of Five Lives.

The Deacon Case—Dysentery Mistaken For Cholera on the Circassian.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—On her last voyage to the Orient the steamer City of Pekin, which arrived in port yesterday, was in the typhoon that wrecked the British steamer Bokhara. The Pekin rode out the gale, but that she did not meet with disaster was principally due to the excellent management and good judgment of Commander Captain R. Searle. "We were in company with the Bokhara," said one of the officers of the Pekin. "On the day the ship was lost, at 1 o'clock that afternoon, Captain Searle ordered the Pekin hove to and everything made taut above and below decks. The Bokhara kept right on, leaving us behind, but reports show that she also hove to an hour later. Had her captain taken the same precautions as ours, his vessel would not have been driven ashore and wrecked with such fearful loss of life. The Pekin rode out the storm beautifully. One of the Empresses of the Canadian Pacific line was in sight during the typhoon. She also was hove to, but the waves washed her decks fore and aft. There was no rain, but the typhoon blew with terrible force and lasted for two days. During all that time Captain Searle hardly left the bridge to take his meals. When we arrived at Hongkong a British man-of-war was just going out to search for us, for a report had gone out that the Pekin had gone down with the Bokhara. The rejoicing on our safe arrival was consequently great."

The Boiler Burst.

READING, Pa., Nov. 14.—A frightful boiler explosion occurred on the Reading railroad a short distance above Schuylkill Haven, about 12 o'clock last night. Five men were killed and several injured. The killed were Engineer William Cowey, Fireman William Mercer, Engineer Harry Allison, Conductor Kendrick and another man whose name is not yet known. Michael Dobbins, a brakeman, was badly injured. The engine had just finished making a shift and coupled up to the train. The moment steam was applied the explosion followed. Cowey was hurled against the rocks and every bone in his body crushed. Mercier was thrown a hundred yards away into a field, the others lay near the wreck. The engine belonged to the freight trade On Sunday it was put on the coal trade, and at the time of the accident was on its way to Palo Alto. The locomotive is a complete wreck. Cowey and Mercier belonged to another crew, and were "dead-heading" home to Palo Alto. The others belonged to the engine which exploded.

Expiated on the Gallows.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—Andrew Petrillo was hanged in New Haven county jail this morning. The crime for which Petrillo was hanged to-day was a cold-blooded, premeditated murder. He was an inveterate gambler and made a good deal of money by successful "monte throwing." One of his victims was Michael Demero, his brother-in-law, who kept a saloon on Lafayette street, in this city. Petrillo won money from him repeatedly before Demero realized that he was being swindled. He resolved to get even and win some of his money back. So he engaged a professional gambler from New York to come to this city and play "monte" with Petrillo. The gambler came and Petrillo fell into the trap. The New Yorker was more skilful than he, and in one sitting won over $2000 from him. Petrillo afterwards waylaid and cruelly murdered the gambler.

Want Her Heavily Fined.

PARIS, Nov. 14.—At the hearing of Mrs. Deacon's appeal on Wednesday from the judgment of the tribunal of the Seine, dismissing the petition for divorce, Mr. Deacon's lawyer will ask the court to impose a fine of 4000 francs a day on Mrs. Deacon, until she produces the daughter she abducted from the convent of Notre Dame de Maine.

FOOTBALL.

JAMES BAY VS. NAVY.

The Navy defeated the James Bay Rugby Football Club on Saturday by five tries to nil. Haines, for the Bays, won the toss and during the first half his team was playing with the ground and wind in their favor. They failed, however to score a point. The Navy, when they had wind and ground in their favor in the second half, scored five tries, but failed to make a goal.

WARSPITE GUNROOM VS. CORRIG COLLEGE.

On Wednesday next the officers of the gunroom of H.M.S. Warspite are to meet the Corrig College team at Beacon Hill. On Thursday the marines of H.M.S. Warspite are also booked to meet the College team on the same ground. Interesting matches are sure to result.

THE CANOE.

WON BY MACLEAN.

Alexander McLean defeated the Saanich Indian in the canoe race this afternoon. The Indian and McLean kept close together, till within half a mile of the winning point. The Indian then fagged and McLean was an easy winner by 300 yards. A large crowd witnessed the race from the railway bridge.

THE ORIENTAL STEAMSHIPS.

Manager Fullerton Argues the Necessity of the C.P.R. Steamers Calling at Victoria.

The Company to Build two New Steamships to Run to China And Japan.

Mr. J. A. Fullerton, manager of the C.P.R. Steamship Company, is registered at the Driard. Mr. Fullerton has just returned from a trip east. While in Montreal he had a conference with General Manager Pearse regarding the steamers. Several matters were brought up at the conference, prominent among them being the question of the steamers calling at Victoria, both on the inward and outward trips. Mr. Fullerton urged the manager to use his influence to have the steamers call, as he argued it would be much cheaper and less trouble than the present way of landing passengers and mail by tender. Besides this Mr. Fullerton says if the steamers docked at the outer wharf the company would secure more business from Victoria than they at present control.

Mr. Pearse was in favor of the steamers calling at Victoria, but he had nothing official regarding the depth of water at the outer wharf beyond a chart supplied by Harbor Master Clarke, Capt. Newby and Mr. Fullerton.

Mr. Fullerton then urged Mr. Pearse to request the Dominion Government to appoint an officer to make a survey of the channel approaching the outer wharf. This Mr. Pearse promised to do, and Mr. Fullerton understood that the Dominion Government had consented to do so.

"Before long," said Mr. Fullerton, "the C.P.R. will have five steamers running between British Columbia and the Orient. Two more steamships are to be built immediately, but as they will not be ready to handle next summer's trade, two large steamers will be chartered to assist the three Empresses. The two new steamers will be about the same size as the Empresses, but a little faster. They will be ready in about a year. The trade certainly demanded more than three steamers, the present number, and besides this it is necessary to have a couple of extra steamers in case anything should happen to one of the Empresses. The present boats have been running for a long while and they will soon have to go into dock for cleaning and repairing."

In Mr. Fullerton's opinion it is yet too early to talk of starting a line between British Columbia and Australia. There is nothing to show that the line would pay, nor that a subsidy would be granted. At present, he said, the chief object of the C.P.R. officials was to control an Atlantic line and to make the one to the Orient as perfect as possible. When this was accomplished they might turn their attention to Australia.

EMPRESS OF JAPAN.

The Oriental Ferryboat Departs in a Heavy Gale.

The steamship Empress of Japan started westward to the far east last evening at 8:30. It was blowing a gale when she arrived from Vancouver yesterday and she had to run into Royal Roads before the steamer Maude, which acted as tender, could go alongside. The big steamship was not delayed here very long. The usual number of Chinese were quickly placed aboard with their baggage. Messrs. Upton, J. B. Gilliat and F. D. B. Ellis, who have been guests at the Dallas for some time, with Mr. and Mrs. W. Pitcher, of San Francisco; Emil Watjen, of Bremen, and Mr. and Mrs. Sarstainer, of Austria, who arrived on the City of Kingston on Saturday from the Sound, and Mrs. J. B. Gordon, of this city, were the passengers who took the steamer here.

The list of her passengers is as follows:—

First Saloon—Vicomte Bartholemy, Mexico; Rev. D. W. Calder, Boston, Mass.; Mr. F. H. B. Ellis, London; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fergusson, Glasgow; Miss A. Gilbert, England; Mr. J. B. Gilliatt, England; Mrs. J. B. Gordon, Victoria, B.C.; Rev. H. J. Hamilton, Toronto; Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Derby, Eng.; Miss Jones, Derby, Eng.; Mr. R. Musgrove, England; Mr. J. W. McKenzie, New York; Mr. J. Nation, Brandon, Man.; Mr. H. Ogilvie, London; Mr. and Mrs. W. Pilcher, San Francisco; Miss Peyers, London; Mr. H. H. Rickard, Montreal; Dr. T. A. Robinson, Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Sale, Yokohama; Mr. and Mrs. F. Sarstianer, San Francisco; Mr. W. Saunders, Shanghai; Mr. D.G. Stewart, Brandon, Man.; Mr. W. Strgand, London; Mr. M. Subervielle, Mexico; Mr. H. D. Walker New York; Mr. F. Wadjen, San Francisco; Mr. H. S. Wilkinson, Montreal; W. F. Ingles, Shanghai; A. Caltanio, Hongkong; T. Brown, Shanghai.

Second Saloon—Miss Ballard, England; Miss Hogan, England; Mr. and Mrs. Russell, Glasgow; Mr. and Mrs. H. Russell, New York.

A number of persons from the city who went out on the Maude to see the Empress depart were seasick before they got back to the inner harbor.

CANADIAN NOTES.

News by Mail and Wire From All Parts of the Dominion.

Mr. William Mulock, M.P., has been re-elected vice-chancellor of Toronto University.

Snow fell to the depth of several inches throughout Ontario and Quebec last Thursday.

Of 141 samples of coffee recently analyzed by the Inland Revenue Department, 39 were found to be adulterated.

The Canadian Pacific Railroad traffic receipts for the week ending Nov. 7th, were $488,000. For the same week last year they were $466,000.

Her Majesty's Government has favorably considered the suggestion in favor of granting medals to the colonial forces for meritorious service, long service and good conduct.

The flouring mills of Daniel Comstock, situated at Kendall, were destroyed by fire together with the barns and stables attached. The loss is heavy and the insurance small.

The Continental Union Association of Toronto has decided to run a candidate for the vacancy in the Ontario Legislature, caused by the death of Mr. N. G. Bigelow, a member for Toronto.

A cable states that the steamship Dracona, which has just reached London, reports the loss of 170 head of cattle out of a shipment of 195. Other cables state that the bulwarks were stove in, and that the cattle and other fittings were washed off the steamer by heavy seas.

Mrs. Agnes Church, against whom the verdict of $4500 was given at the Woodstock assizes recently, as damages for alienating the affections of another woman's husband, is now in jail on a capias alleging that she was about to leave the jurisdiction without paying the amount in question.

The Imperial Board of Agriculture, after full consideration of the request for an extension of time for landing Canadian cattle in Great Britain under the old order, cannot agree on such extension, but say the individual case of any ships that might reasonably be expected to arrive before the 21st, if coming after that date will receive full consideration.

An unknown man in an unconscious state was found on the south side of the river at Edmonton with his skull fractured and his pockets rifled. He died in the afternoon without recovering consciousness. It is said that the unknown man and a comrade stayed at a hotel in Edmonton and left to cross to the north side of the river. His companion is missing. The two men arrived by train.

The Bank of Montreal's semi-annual statement shows that the earings for the six months ending October 31st, amounted to $604,144, or about 5.04 per cent. on the paid up capital. The earnings for the corresponding half year in 1891, amounted to $660 642 or 5.50 per cent on the paid up capital. The statement caused disappointment but is regarded in Montreal financial circles as fairly satisfactory.

The match for the Rugby football championship of Canada, played at Toronto between the Osgoode Hall team of Toronto, the Ontario champions, and the Montreals, the champions of Quebec, resulted in a victory for the former by 45 points to 5. The annual inter-University Rugby football match between fifteens of McGill (Montreal) and Toronto universities resulted in a draw, each scoring nine points.

A Toronto paper says William O'Connor, America's single scull champion oarsman, intends to organize a four-oared crew to row in the International regatta at Chicago next year and that he also intends paying a visit to St. John, N.B., and Halifax, N.S., to select four strong, able bodied fishermen who can row, and train and prepare them to row any four men in England, Australia and the United States.

In the Court of Queen's Bench at Montreal, F. H. Twohey, deputy collector in charge of the United States customs, appeared on the indictment found against him by the grand jury for conspiracy. He pleaded not guilty and stated he was ready for trial. Mr. MacMaster, Q.C., on his behalf stated that Mr. Twohey desired his trial at the earliest possible moment, and said that the same bill had been before the previous grand jury and had been thrown out. Mr. Twohey was an officer of the United States, and did not desire for a moment to rest under the imputation of wrong doing. It was at the request of his government, as well as himself, that the trial be had at once, and he was ready for it. After some discussion had occurred between counsel, it was arranged that the trial should take place to-day.

Failed to Get a Pension.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Nov. 12.—Mrs. Bettie Chapman was sentenced in the U. S. court to-day to one year's imprisonment, and to pay a fine of $1000. She applied some time ago for a pension under the act of 1891, alleging that since the death of her husband, who was a federal soldier, she had not remarried. A mass of evidence to support her claim was filed in the pension office at Washington. Discrepancies in the testimony led to investigation, and it was discovered that she had remarried. Even after her arrest she claimed to be a soldier's wife, but finally confessed and pleaded guilty. She made a scene when sentence was pronounced by Judge Williams. She owns property here and was in independent circumstances.

Rough on the Profession.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Cream, the murderer, has been warned that he need look for no further respite, and it is said he is breaking down. He is constantly watched by the two wardens on duty in his cell, although there is no fear that he will commit suicide. Now that all hope of a reprieve is gone it is expected that Cream will make some sort of a written statement and give it to the chaplain. Some questions having arisen as to Cream's religious faith, enquiry has been made, and it appears that he is a member of the Church of England. He treats the chaplain with courteous reserve. The clothes that Cream will wear at the time of execution are already being bargained for, and will probably find their way to a noted place for the exhibition of such relics, where they will be used and shown along with the bottles used by Palmer, the noted Rugeley poisoner. It has been pointed out that the conviction of Dr. Neill Cream adds one more to the number of medical men who, within the recollection of people not past middle age, have been condemned to death for poisoning. Looking back over the past forty years and taking the three professions, divinity, law and medicine, one finds that whereas no barrister has been sentenced to death and only one clergyman, the Rev. John Selby Watson, for battering his wife's brains out at Stockwell, there have been, comparatively speaking, a good many medical men. Dr. Palmer, whose case was quoted so often during the late trial, will always stand "damned" to everlasting infamy, the poisoner Lucretia Borgia, not excepted. Then came Dr. Smithurst, of Surbiton, and after him Dr. Pritchard, of Glasgow, while to add to the horrible congruity in the whole of the three kingdoms, it is not so many years ago that Dr. Cross was hanged at Cork for poisoning an old woman to make room for a young one. Dr. Lamson, like Dr. Cream, was sentenced to death by Mr. Justice Hawkins, for a murder by poison.

Uganda to be Retained.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Government has concluded to hold Uganda, and will probably retain Captain Lugard in command of the country. Captain Lugard has succeeded in convincing everybody that he did the best in Uganda that could be done, and that he is not to blame because one lot of missionaries told the natives they would be damned if they did this, and the other lot told them they would be damned if they did the other thing. The position is this: The company must retire from Uganda so far as the exercise of any authority is concerned, and that the British Government will enter upon its occupancy at once. It is not likely that the Government will make any fuss about the Englishman said to have been shot by the French because he was captured in command of the Dahomey natives. At the same time it is pointed out that the victim, whoever he was, had a right to be in the service of King Behanzin, who is, or was, and independent ruler. Nevertheless, the Dahomeyans have made it a rule to murder prisoners, so they cannot blame the French for retaliating. King Behanzin's troops are said to be commanded by a white man, whom the King had induced by liberal offers to enter his service. All accounts credit the Amazons with extraordinary valor, but they appear to be entirely unsexed, as they inflict the most brutal outrages on their prisoners.

The Same Old Story.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Dense fogs have been prevalent in London for a week. At noon to-day the fog became thicker than ever and the blackness of midnight set in. Gas and electric lights are in use everywhere but in the streets, where it is unable to penetrate the mass of vapor. The fog enters the houses and causes a feeling of discomfort. On the streets pedestrians stumbled along, often falling by missing their footing in the darkness. The usual rush of traffic is greatly diminished, for careful draymen and others refuse to allow their horses to be used, fearing an accident. The traffic is carried on under great difficulty. It is only by exercising the greatest care that accidents are not more numerous, though some serious casualties are reported, mostly runovers. The lawless element took advantage of the occasion and everywhere were active. It is utterly impossible for the police to recognize them, and the dense fog rendered robbery an easy task. In spite, however, of the precautions of the shopkeepers, sneak thieves have managed to make many successful coups. Several cases of highway robbery are reported. In every case the thieves escaped under cover of the mantle of fog. It is feared that many fatalities will occur at the docks, which are veritable death traps in such weather.

An American Description.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Consul New, to whom President Harrison is largely indebted for his recent candidature, was asked to-day to give an explanation of the disastrous defeat of his party on Tuesday, "I have just received this map from the Hydrographic office at Washington," said he, "as you see it shows the track of the great cyclone of November, 1888. That cyclone, my dear sir, was a zephyr, compared with the storm that has just swept our country from stem to stern. I cannot explain it."

Irish Hostility Modified.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—Hon. Edward Blake, in speaking at a banquet in Liverpool, said that the action of the Liberal party had modified the hostility to England of the Irish in America, as shown by the recent presidential election. Mr. Blake advocated consulting Justin McCarthy by the Government in reference to the Home Rule bill.

Nothing to Account for.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 12.—The widow of the late Samuel J. Randall, who was told to appear in court to-day and make an account of the statesman's estate, said her husband died so poor that there was nothing to account for. There was not sufficient funds to pay costs. Mrs. Randall was promptly excused by the court.

A Fulfilled Presentiment.

MILTON, Pa., Nov. 12.—Miss Laura Bucher, who died last week in Sudbury after a short illness, had a presentiment of her death about six months ago, when she was in perfect health. She made every preparation, chose the pallbearers, selected her funeral clothes, place of burial, hymns so be sung over her remains and chose a casket and flowers and ribbons to hang from the door instead of crape. Miss Bucher was a neice of the late Congressman John Bucher.

Asquith Will Not Interfere.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Home Secretary Asquith had not, up to noon to-day, made any communication to the authorities of Clerkenwell relative to the case of Neill Cream, the American who is to be hanged on Tuesday next. The papers sent from the United States, and owing to the delay in the receipt of which the Home Secretary was induced to grant a week's respite to the condemned man, reached Downing street yesterday. It is not believed, however, that they contain anything that will justify the Home Secretary in again intertering with the execution of the sentence. It is understood that Cream has made an important statement, and which is in the hands of his solicitor, Mr. Waters. It will not be published, however, until after the gibbet has done its work.

Committed to the Asylum.

Geo. L. Ferguson was this morning committed to the asylum for the insane at New Westminster. Ferguson was teacher at the East Sooke school and on Friday began to show signs of insanity. He was perfectly harmless, and came to town when requested yesterday morning without any trouble.

For the Good of Others

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an

Article of Merit

and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could and did do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

Nervous Headache

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

DEAR SIR,—Having rheumatism in my both feet I tried some of your medicine, and have much pleasure in testifying to its efficacy.

I found considerabl relief from its use, which I consider the more remarkable as I knew my room to be very damp, but I believe a continued use of your remedy will soon effect a cure.

Yours faithfully,

FUNERAL OF THE BULLS.

Large Turnout of Friends of the Murdered Family.

LILLOOET, Nov. 10.—The funeral of George Bull and wife, the Indians murdered on Lower Ridge River last March, was held here to-day. A large number of Indians, including some of the Nitlakapamuk tribe, were present. They formed into line above the court house, where the bodies were removed from the canoe which had brought them from Lytton. Impressive services were conducted by the Rev. B. C. Chirouse, O.M.I., and an assistant. The Pemberton band played a dead march and the solemn procession passed through the principal streets on its way to Chetel (the Mission) on Seaton Lake where the remains will be interred.

SONG AND STORY.

The Ladner's Folk Spend an Enjoyable Evening Last Week.

LADNER'S LANDING, Nov. 12.—The second concert-lecture of the Epworth League series passed off very successfully on Wednesday evening last in the Town Hall. Rev. Mr. Bayley in the chair.

The concert was opened by music consisting of duets, quartets and solos, in all of which Miss Ladner and Mrs. Watson may be specially complimented as the controlling powers in that department.

The Rev. Mr. Maitland, of Vancouver, kept the audience in the closest attention by his able lecture on "Hobby-riders, cranks and geniuses," which he handled in a masterly manner, illustrating from the lives of celebrated men who had an aim, making everything subservient to their ideal. The lecture beamed with wit and humor throughout, and was enjoyed by all.

Councillor Kirkland moved, seconded by Reeve Benson, a vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Maitland, which was heartily supported.

Trial for Heresy.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—Presbyterian clergymen and laymen, as well as representatives of many other religious organizations, crowded the First Presbyterian church this morning to witness the proceedings incident to the second stage of the trial of Prof. H. P. Smith, of Lane University, on a charge of heresy. This was the day set for the professor to make his formal defense. A summary of the charge is as follows:

Charge 1. That Smith taught in articles published in the New York Evangelist of March 15 and April 7, contrary to the rules and regulations of the church, abandoning the essential features of the doctrine of the church.

Charge 2. That he taught in a pamphlet entitled "Biblical Scholarships Inspiration," that the Holy Spirit did not so control the holy writers in the holy scriptures as to make their utterances absolutely truthful—that is, free from error when interpreted in their national and intended sense.

Charge 3.—That the same pamphlet, while alleging the holy scriptures are inspired in an infallible rule of faith and practice, he denied in fact their inspiration in the sense in which inspiration is attributed to the scriptures by the scriptures themselves, and by the Confession of Faith.

Sam'l of Posen's Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—The second trial of Maurice B. Curtis, the actor, better known as Sam'l of Posen, for the murder of Policeman Alexander Grant, early on the morning of Sept. 11, 1891, was called to-day in the criminal court with Judge Trout presiding. The jury at the first trial stood eleven to one for conviction on the charge of wilful murder. At that time there was a weak point in the evidence of the prosecution, owing to the fact that none of the witnesses for the state would positively swear that it was the actor that fired the fatal shot. During the past month, however, a new witness has been found in the person of one J. W. Cann, a resident of the interior of the state. Cann says that he saw the scuffle between Curtis and the officer from the opposite side of the street, and that he is positive that Curtis shot the policeman twice in succession. He explains his failure to make himself known at that time by saying that he had purchased a ticket for the next morning's boat, and did not desire to be detained in the city. The second trial had originally been fixed for September 26th, but a postponement was granted until to-day owing to the fact that in the absence of two important witnesses the counsel for Curtis were unwilling to go on. The counsel for the accused man will make a strong fight for their client.

Opening a Mexican Railroad.

DURANGO, Mex., Nov. 14.—The Durango extension of the Mexican International Railroad, which is owned by the Southern Pacific Company, was formally opened to-day, a distinguished company participating in the inaugural trip. At a luncheon which followed President C. C. Huntington, of the Southern Pacific, announced that the road would be extended across the Sierre Madre mountains to the port of Mazatlan on the Pacific coast, and that the work of construction would be rapidly pushed.

The Advertising

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements, which in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

THE STREETS.

TO THE EDITOR:—I would suggest to the street committee that a portion of the forthcoming $25,000 should be spent in a general sweeping of our streets. For are they not all over four inches deep in liquid mud? Such a sight and nuisance surely was never seen or tolerated before in any place having the pretensions some claim for Victoria. Mud in winter and dust in summer. Remove the mud and we will have less dust in summer. There is ample work for 20 carts and men in proportion. Dump the whole sweepings on James' Bay flats, which would be far better than the fever breeding nuisances that I know have been dumped there. S.

Social Democrats Conference

BERLIN, Nov. 14.—The national conference of the Social Democratic party opened here to-day. All the leaders are in attendance, including Liebsknecht, the noted revolutionist and internationalist, Vollmar, his principal rival, Deputy Auer, and Deputy Singer, and August Bebel. The various elements of which the congress is composed are divided against each other, and it is not unlikely that the present gathering will result in a division of the party into North German and South German parties. Charges are to be preferred against Singer, to the effect that he seeks to turn the party into an organization for the exclusive benefit of the Hebrew race. He is also charged with nepotism and mal-administration. Another element seeks places the Social Democrats on record as being opposed to anarchists and nihilists. It is charged that the government has provided a large sum of money to be used for the purpose of disrupting the congress.

Cannibalism in Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 12. — The young giantess Yaroshevski recently called at the house of a family named Yoreski, near the hamlet of Sariora. She drank much vodka with the mother, who subsequently went away and left her in charge of two young children. When the mother returned the young giantess was threatening to kill the three-year-old girl with a knife. In the corner lay the baby with its throat cut, its cheek gnawed off and all the blood sucked out of his body. The mother summoned the neighbors and they disarmed the giantess. The people of the hamlet tried to lynch her, but she was rescued by the military.

For Murdering His Bride.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 14.—The case of Frank Garvin, the young newspaper artist, who recently shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Cora Ridpath, on the third day of their marriage, is on the docket for trial in the main branch of the criminal court to-day. The defense will be temporary insanity.

CITY HEALTH NOTICE

THE ACTING MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER for the City of Victoria recommends that all citizens be required to thoroughly clean up their premises, removing all garbage heaps, decaying vegetables, stable manure, and night soil, and disinfecting all closets and drains as often as necessary, and generally to comply with the provisions of the "Consolidated Health By Law.

By order,
WELLINGTON J. DOWLER,
C.M.C.

Victoria, October 1, 1892.

EXTRACTS FROM THE "CONSOLIDATED HEALTH BY-LAW."

ACCUMULATION OF FILTH.

No person shall permit or suffer the accumulation, so as to be a nuisance, of any offal, filth, refuse, stagnant water, or other offensive matter or thing upon his premises, or on any vacant lot belonging to him, or for the owner or lessee of which he is the agent.

No person shall place on any land or in or upon any street, road, or highway, any manure or other refuse matter, or any dirt or filth which is or is likely to become, a nuisance.

No person shall convey or cause to be conveyed through any street, road, or highway, any night-soil, swill, or other filth or offensive matter dangerous to health, between the hours of six in the morning and twelve in the evening, or at any time except in a proper covered cart or vehicle, so as to prevent slopping or spilling.

Every tenant or occupier of a building shal dispose of all animal and vegetable refuse from such building or on the premises occupied therewith, either by burning the same or by placing it in a proper covered receptacle, the contents of which he shall cause to be removed at least once every week.

No person shall throw into, or leave in or upon, any street, court, square, road, lane, alley, wharf, public enclosure, vacant lot, pond, or body of water, any dead animal, dirt, sawdust, soot, ashes, cinders, shavings, hair, shreds, manure, fish shells, waste water or filth of any kind, or any refuse, animal, or vegetable matter whatever.

DRAINAGE AND PRIVIES.

The owner, lessee, agent, or person having the care of any ground, yard, vacant lot, or other property where stagnant water or other nuisance exists, abutting on any street through which a common sewer shall have been constructed shall cause the same to be effectually drained into such common sewer.

The owner, lessee, agent, or occupier of any building or premises used as a dwelling house, hotel, restaurant, saloon, shop, store, office, factory, wash-house, or otherwise, shall furnish the same with a sufficient drain underground to carry off all waste or foul water or liquid filth; and no such drain shall empty or discharge into or upon any street, road, or highway, or any open drain thereon, unless in the opinion of the Mayor and Council the same shall not be detrimental to the public health.

All vaults and privies shall be made tight, so that the contents thereof cannot escape therefrom, and as remote from any dwelling, well, or water tank as practicable.

OVERCROWDING.

No person shall let or occupy, or suffer to be occupied, as a dwelling or lodging, any room which—

(a.) Does not contain at all times at least 384 cubic feet of space for each person occupying the same

(b.) Has not a window made to open in a manner approved by the Medical Health Officer or the Sanitary Inspector; or

CLEVELAND AND RECIPROCITY.

From an Ottawa dispatch which appeared in the TIMES on Saturday it appears that in "official circles" at the capital the Democratic victory in the States is regarded as a final extinguisher on the policy of unrestricted reciprocity. No doubt this dispatch originated with an inspired Conservative correspondent—probably the Empire's—so it may be taken as voicing the views of Ottawa officialdom. Though emanating from so high and mighty a source, the reasons advanced in the dispatch in support of its initial assertion are decidedly inconsequential. It is hardly logical to infer that the coming Democratic administration will show itself utterly opposed to reciprocity because the former Democratic administration refused to couple a reciprocity treaty with the fisheries treaty of 1888. Mr. Cleveland held that nothing should be incorporated in such a treaty affecting the tariff, on the ground that any change in the revenue laws should be made "by the ordinary exercise of the legislative will." There is nothing in the doctrine thus expressed to prevent a treaty of reciprocity being negotiated entirely apart from other international questions and with the approval of Congress. As both branches of Congress are likely to be in harmony with the coming administration, such approval will no doubt be afforded. Provided Canada is desirous of obtaining a full measure of free trade with the States, it is almost certain that the Democratic Government and Congress at Washington will not be less willing to negotiate on this basis than were their Republican predecessors. With the Ottawa "official circles" the wish is probably father to the thought. As showing the ideas of our nearest Democratic neighbors, the following utterance of the Seattle Telegraph is of interest:—

An article appears in the West Coast Trade on Canadian reciprocity which shows a striking misconception of the facts. It is based upon the hypothesis that such a treaty would necessarily be to the advantage of England, and for that reason, if for no other, ought not to be negotiated. Our contemporary seems to think that to refuse Canada a reciprocity treaty would be a good way to get even with England for the depredations of the Alabama. It is a matter of surprise to see a periodical, which is professedly a commercial publication, approach a purely commercial proposition in this spirit. We may take it for granted that our government will never negotiate a reciprocity treaty with Canada unless it appears likely to be advantageous to this country to do so. A very strange delusion is entertained by some people as to Canadian commerce. It is frequently asserted with all seriousness, by journals usually well informed, that reciprocity with Canada would imply the free admission of British goods. As a matter of fact Canada imposes the same tariff upon British goods as upon goods from this country. We are not entirely left to guess work to determine just what the effect of reciprocity with Canada would be. Such a treaty confined to raw materials was in force between the two countries for the ten years ending 1864, and notwithstanding the lack of facilities for intercourse as compared with those now existing, and the disturbing effect of the rebellion, commerce between the two countries expanded to a degree that can only be called remarkable. The gain was by no means all on the side of Canada, as an examination of the trade returns will show. Our Government had too much to think about when this treaty expired to consider propositions for its renewal, and we were as a people feeling very sore against Canada at that time, as that country had to some extent been the plotting ground of sympathizers with the Southern cause.

There are not many subjects of more immediate interest, in view of the result of the elections, than our commercial relations with Canada. Free raw materials will have a prominent place in any Democratic fiscal policy. Among the most important raw materials are coal, lumber and iron. Canada can supply us largely with these, and one question which must be considered is whether we shall simply open our markets to our neighbors or demand in return some concession from them. It will not be denied by those who have given the subject consideration that the opening of our market to the raw products of Canada will give an immense impetus industrially to the Dominion. The natural result of this will be that we will sell more goods to the Canadians, even without the fostering effect of a reciprocity treaty. Our view of the case is that it would be to the advantage of both countries to remove the customs barrier entirely and join in adopting a broad policy of continental free trade.

There is every reason to believe that Democratic sentiment generally is in accord with that of the Telegraph. It is perfectly true that Democratic tariff legislation will in any event tend to encourage trade between Canada and the States, but it does not at all follow from this fact that under the new regime at Washington there will be opposition to the widest measure of free trade.

THE CABINET.

A few days ago the TIMES ventured to remark that the unmixed English composition of the Provincial Cabinet was not so clearly an unmixed blessing as the Canadian Gazette seemed to make out, and that a little Canadian, Irish or Scottish leaven might perhaps be profitably introduced. Thereupon the News-Advertiser kindly came to our assistance and nominated the member for Westminster for the vacant seat in the Cabinet. Our Vancouver contemporary offers to vouch for Mr. Brown as a good son of Ireland and an enemy of the knickerbocker. That is all quite correct, but unfortunately we cannot forget that the member for Westminster and the present members of the Government would not "mix" any better than oil and water. A letter from Prof. Odlum, published in Sunday's News-Advertiser, suggests a better idea. The professor laments the fact that Vancouver has not been given representation in the Cabinet, which he holds to be only her due. "Vancouver is new and growing," he says, "and requires consideration of a character different from that given to mining districts and cattle ranches." Again he says, "surely our representatives from this city have as good general ability as those who are in the Cabinet," a statement which the News-Advertiser will hardly contradict, however warmly it admires the present members of the Government. But Mr. Odlum offers his most convincing argument when he says: "Since the death of the Hon. John Robson the two city representatives have in no way opposed the work of the new Premier. Their attitude is clearly that of a favorable consideration—a fair chance to the Government to show what it is and can do." From all this it would appear that both Vancouver and the TIMES can be satisfied by the appointment of the junior member for Vancouver as Provincial Secretary. Mr. Horne is not English, wherefore it would seem that he can meet all the requirements. We respectfully submit this suggestion to the News-Advertiser as an improvement on its own.

MAJOR SHERWOODS' TRIP.

He Refuses to Give Any Particulars Regarding His Visit to the West Coast.

Major Sherwood, Superintendent of the Dominion police, returned on the steamer Quadra from a trip to the West Coast. When asked for particulars regarding his trip the major said he was sorry, but could give nothing for publication. He gave the same answer when asked if his visit had any connection with the recent visit to the West Coast of Major Williams of the U. S. Treasury on the revenue cutter Wolcott.

When the Wolcott went up the west coast last spring with Major Williams on board, it was charged that unfair means had been used to obtain evidence from the Indians regarding the sealing business. American schooners were also charged with supplying smuggled whiskey and other goods to the Indians, thus committing a double offense.

It is generally understood that Major Sherwood's trip to the west coast was to investigate these charges. He, however, very politely refuses to say yea or nay when questioned.

The Facts Didn't Jibe.

"Hunting stories are all right in their way, but they must be circumstantially told in order to be properly backed up," said one of the boys this morning. "But when I hear of mountain goats being slain on Vancouver Island I want to call a halt. You see, there are no mountain goats on the island, and it is either a plain hunting story or else somebody's sheep were shot." It is not necessary to say what he was driving at.

A Careful Survey Ordered.

Two survey parties, working under the direction of Gardner Herman & Burwell, civil engineers and surveyors of Vancouver, have gone to Duluth to survey, plat and stake off the townsite. It will be laid off with a broad hand, with splendid streets, regular and wide. The work has been hurried by the sale of the property and the anxiety on the part of some of the buyers to locate on the land purchased. *

Buried at Esquimalt.

The body of Midshipman Kusano, who died on the Japanese training ship, was buried in the naval cemetery at Esquimalt this afternoon, with naval honors. The deceased passed away late on Thursday night. He was a sufferer from lung troubles. He was a native of Nagasaki and about 23 years of age. He was a very promising young officer and came from an excellent family.

The Upton Line.

Frank Upton, of the defunct steamship line to the Orient bearing his name, was in the city on Sunday and took passage for Hongkong on the Empress of Japan. He had little to say before his departure, and seemed to desire to avoid any publicity or prominence. It is understood that he is going to China to make an endeavor to straighten out his affairs.

Died of Heart Disease.

The Launch Ruth, with Two Occupants Blown From Dungeness to Victoria.

Eight Hours in a Thirty-Foot Open Boat and a Hurricane Blowing.

The little naphtha launch Ruth was blown across the straits by the high wind that was raging last evening. Joe Hansen, foreman of the Naphtha Launch company of Tacoma and J. Johnson were her reluctant passengers.

They left Port Townsend yesterday afternoon for Port Angeles. A gale was blowing off shore at the time, so the two men, although expecting a rough trip, did not for a moment think the wind and waves would treat them as they did. When just off Dungeness, however, the little launch ran into a broken boom of logs. Her propeller shaft was damaged and for about an hour she was flying before the wind. During that time Hansen and Johnson had been at work on the propellor shaft and they had the engine running again. They were then about half way between Dungeness and Victoria, and as the wind was blowing from the south they decided to make for this port. The Ruth was therefore headed this way. She had not gone far, however, when the shaft again became unshifted and the men could not repair it. They therefore kept her before the wind and she came flying over. She struck the rocks off Dallas Road about 3 o'clock this morning, having been at the mercy of the waves for eight hours, during which time she covered about 25 miles. As soon as she struck Hansen and Johnson jumped out with the life cushions and brought the anchor ashore.

Both were exhausted after the long rough passage and had to leave the launch where she struck until this morning when she was taken off by Captain D. McIntosh and two pilots. The latter now have the boat on the beach near Raymur's and it is understood that they will claim salvage. The owners say they are not entitled to salvage as the boat was anchored when they found her. Her keel is badly damaged and several holes were knocked in her hull during the night.

Johnson, one of the men who came over on the Ruth, said that he had given up all hope of ever reaching shore. A regular hurrican was blowing when the engine broke down and it seemed to blow harder and harder as they neared Victoria. It was not an experience that he would wish to have repeated—eight hours, in a 30 foot open boat, at the mercy of the wind and wave and drenched to the skin.

WHO WILL BE CANDIDATES?

The Mayor, Aldermen and Others Asked a Pertinent Question.

Cleveland and the low-tariff party are elected to office, and public interest in Victoria now centres in the municipal elections. There has been considerable gossip the past week. A friend meets a friend, and asks him, "Who will be mayor next year?" The invariable reply is, "Don't know." Then the friends talk and they both think that a certain individual would fill the office of chief magistrate very nicely. And that gentleman's name is brought to the fore.

Mayor Beaven was seated in his office in the City Hall engaged affixing his signature to public documents when the TIMES questioned:

"Will you again be a candidate, Mr. Beaven?

Mr. Beaven looked up, then rose from his seat and walked a few steps nearer the interrogator, and replied: "I think I can do the city further service next year; I will again be a candidate."

A. B. Gray was spoken of for the honor. The friends of Mr. Gray waited on him Saturday evening and asked him to be a candidate. Mr. Gray declined to run. His business would not permit him to devote his attention to municipal affairs

Robert Ward has only just returned to Victoria. He was not in the city 24 hours before a few of his friends said: "Let us run Robert Ward. Mr. Ward was asked, by the newspaper man, would he stand for mayoralty honors. Mr. Ward replied that he did not care much about public affairs, and was never so glad as when defeated two years ago. The name of J. H. Todd is also mentioned, and there is a good deal of speculation as to ex-Mayor Grant's intentions.

Descending a step on the municipal ladder, the aldermen come next into consideration.

"Will you again stand for re-election? This question, put to several of the ward representatives elicited the following replies:

Ald. Munn—"I cannot tell you. I have been thinking that my business will not let me give so much time to municipal affairs."

Ald. Bragg—"You are asking your questions early enough. Cannot give you an affirmative or negative. If my constituents want me again I am at their service."

Ald. Humber—"What a question! You don't want to begin elections at once? I'll tell you some day when I meet you."

Ald. Hall—"I have not thought of the matter. Ask me again, but I will not promise to answer you then.

Ald. Lovell—"No, sir; it takes too much of my time. I must attend to my own business."

Winter Term.

The winter term of Corrig College commences this week and already this morning the attendance was larger than at any previous date. The class rooms forming the new elemetary department were opened with a very fair list of junior scholars, ranging in age from 9 to 11 years

Keep your money at home and patronize home industry by using Findley & Des Brisay's electric soap, guaranteed the best on earth. Will not injure your clothes or hurt your hands. Sold by all the leading grocers. N.B. No retailing at works. *

A Ten Days' Mission.

The Redemptorist Fathers of Seattle, in about two weeks from date, will begin a ten days' mission at St. Andrew's Roman Catholic cathedral. The Redemptorists are priests whose special province is work of this kind. They are generally interesting and instructive.

The Ploughing Match.

The ploughing match at Cloverdale Farm, on Saturday afternoon, resulted in Alex. Rose winning first prize, Andy Monroe, second; and William Snider, third. The amateur match was won by T. Monroe, with A. Langley and M. McRae as second and third respectively. In the evening there was supper at the Oriental.

Fine Music.

The sacred concert to be given tomorrow night in the old Roman Catholic church by St. Andrew's Choral Society promises to be a really excellent affair. The excellence of the programme and the merit of the participants should insure a large attendance. The hall has been artistically decorated and a platform placed in a convenient spot.

For San Francisco.

The steamer Umatilla sailed for San Francisco this morning with the following cabin passengers from this port: Mrs. Theo Simpson, Miss J. Day, P. R. Newman, Geo. A. Wilkens, Mrs. J. E. Wilkens, Mrs. T. E. Ladner and children, Jas. McWhim, wife and child, Theo Simpson, Mrs. Jno. Marshall and Miss Agnes Marshall.

The New Music Hall.

The new Delmonico restaurant and music hall will be opened this evening. The lady orchestra is composed of several really excellent musicians, and the singers engaged by the management are all very good. The hall has been very tastefully arranged and a neat platform erected at the further end. It is expected that there will be a large attendance this evening.

City Police Court.

John Burke, charged with vagrancy, was dismissed.

R. Flaman pleaded not guilty to driving faster than six miles an hour in the city limits. The case was continued till Tuesday. W. G. Mills was fined $2.50 for driving a horse on the grass in the park.

Price of Sugar.

The British Columbia sugar refining company quote the following prices, subject to 2½ per cent discount for cash in 14 days; Sugar—powdered, icing and bar, 6⅝c. per pound; Paris lumps, 6⅛c; Granulated, 5⅜c.; Extra C, 4⅞c.; Fancy Yellow, 4¾c; Yellow, 4⅝c; Golden C, 4⅛c; Above prices are for barrels or bags; ½ barrels and 100 lb. kegs, ¼ cent more; boxes, ½ cent more. No order taken for less than 100 barrels or its equivalent.

Syrup—Finest Golden, in 30 Gall. Brls., 2½c. per lb; in 10 Gall. Kegs, 3c.; in 5 Gall. Kegs, $2.25 each; in 1 Gall. Tins, $4.50 per case of 10; in ½ Gall. $6.00 per case of 20.

The Opportunity of a Lifetime.

Marmaduke Woods, the eminent Shakespearean reader and double action tragedian, will make his debut at the old Imperial Theatre to-night instead of at the Victoria. The piece which is to be presented is being carefully rehearsed. J. Cockburn Thompson has written some lines with the assistance of Mr. Davie, which are "not half bad." The valet also will be a great attraction. The play will be really a picture from the real life of Marmie. Incidents connected with the endeavors of his creditors to secure collections will be introduced. If the small boys do not guy the "actors" to such an extent as to interrupt the show there will be some really funny things given.

Madame Laird, who has been engaged to give vocal instruction at the Conservatory of Music has arrived and has commenced work. Those wishing to avail themselves of the opportunity of studying under a competent teacher should make application at once to the director. Madame Laird is a pupil of alfred J. Kelleher, the well known teacher of San Francisco. She was for a number of years soprano soloist in Grace church, and took a leading part in the festivals of St. Mary's Cathedral. Private and class lessons have been arranged.

A VICTORIAN IN LONDON.

British Columbia's Delegate to the Boards of Trade Conference Tells the News.

Effects of the McKinley Bill—Manchester Ship Canal—British Politics.

Mr. Robert Ward was interviewed by a TIMES reporter on Saturday afternoon at his home, with reference to his late visit to England, as delegate to the conference of Boards of Trade of the empire. He said:

"You ask the questions and I'll answer."

The first query put was in reference to Imperial Federation. Mr. Ward was asked what was the opinion in England. He replied:

"The British Government favor closer relations with the mother country. My mission to England had to do with closer trade relations between the colonies and the mother country. I think though, that the convention of the Boards of Trade held in London was poorly timed. During the excitement of the election was no time to talk trade relations. But I believe that British statesmen nearly all hold opinions that will further cement the various portions of the Empire. In regard to a proportionate part of the defence of the Empire being borne by the colonies, I do not doubt that the colonists will be willing to give as well as to receive; and that is the opinion in England. Australia has already moved in that direction. And I think Canada will follow suit. Of course it is hardly to be expected that the English masses understand the question."

"Are the reports of the depression in the cotton and tin plate trade correct?"

"I do not think that they were in the least exaggerated. Lancashire is in a very bad way. Times have been very hard, and the McKinley bill has ruined the Welsh tinplate industries, and it has done no good to the States. That is not my opinion, but the view of several prominent Americans with whom I have conversed. America has to import all her raw material for the tin plate industry. And the consumer pays a tax on the raw material. It is an industry that the states can hardly expect to build to any considerable extent. If they had the raw material in their own country it might be different. But they have not.

"Of the Manchester ship canal?"

"This great engineering project is bound to be finished. But it is swallowing millions more than estimated. The workingmen who were induced to take shares are disappointed. They do not see any probability of a dividend on their money for many a long year. The project is now being guaranteed by the city of Manchester itself. And I am told that next year will see the canal opened. Ocean vessels will thus be enabled to load and discharge cargoes 40 miles inland. It is a fine engineering feat and will stand a triumph of modern skill."

"How about politics?"

"Well, I am not a politician. Mr. Gladstone, I do not think will ever get his Home Rule bill through the Commons. At least that is what many say. He has too many factions to unite. They are all at sixes and sevens. And the by-elections are going against him. But I would sooner leave the subject to a politician."

"What is the opinion in England of British Columbia?"

"It would do us good if they knew something more about us. All the news they receive is bad. The London Daily Telegraph published only two items of British Columbia news when I was in London. One was that an Englishman had been murdered, and the other that the smallpox was raging and threatened to destroy the Songhees tribe of Indians. Any Victorian knows how many Songhees there are left; you could count them on your fingers. The fame of the mineral wealth of British Columbia is being greatly circulated in England; large numbers of prospectors are coming out. I thoroughly enjoyed my trip and am happy to be again home in Victoria."

Comox has now a paper, which calls itself the Weekly News. The first number was issued on Thursday last, the publishers being M. Whithney & son.

The Government Steamer.

The Dominion steamer Quadra, Capt. Walbran, returned yesterday afternoon from her trip to the west coast. The lighthouses were visited and stores landed and all buoys examined, a new buoy, colored red and black horizontal, being placed on Sutton rock in Ucluelet Arm, Barclay Sound. Strong gales and high seas were experienced with occasional fogs, and this stormy weather has made the cruise longer than usual. In the gale of Nov. 11th, two fishing sloops, the Zephyr and Polly, were lost at San Juan. The crews were taken on board the Quadra on Sunday morning and landed here.

Militarism Rampant in Comox.

There is a good deal of fun at Comox since the recent Indian troubles at Cape Mudge. It seems that the first official party that went to make the arrests were driven off with a shower of stones, and Andy Gallino, the bravest of all the attacking party, was wounded in the leg. His companions bravely carried him from the field of battle. When the attacking party returned they had all the able-bodied men in Comox aboard the Joan, which was chartered for the occasion. They were armed with everything from flint-lock muskets to howitzers and meat axes. They were irresistible, and readily arrested all the prisoners they wanted. Now Comox is going to organize a society of veterans of the civil war and pension Andy Gallino and the war correspondent of the Comox News, who stood at the cannon's mouth and snatched the bauble reputation in great shape.

Mechanics' Lien Act.

Two of the Judges of the Supreme Court have within the past few days made severe comments on the Mechanics' Lien Act. It works prejudicially to the interests not only of the property owners but also of the mechanics whom it is supposed to protect. Under the act one who is hired to do some work on another man's property has a lien on the property until he is paid in full for the work done. The consequence is that real estate in Victoria has come to be regarded as poor security, or as one of the judges said, the "rottenest kind of security." And this must indirectly result in injury and loss to the mechanics themselves.

The Spiritualists of this city will hold a service at Pioneer Hall, Broad street, Broad street, Sunday evening, Nov. 13th, at 7:45 o'clock, conducted by Mrs. C. Mayo-Steers, spiritual teacher. Lecture followed by tests. *

For Union Mines.

The steamer Joan left Saturday night on a special trip to the Union wharf and coal bunkers with a supply of provisions for the miners, and some more men to work in the mines. It is the intention to re-open the mines, and it is said to run them at full blast very soon. A number of Japanese have been employed to start. This is largely an experiment, as it is not known whether they will be a success or not. The Joan will be back in time for her usual run to-morrow.

A Flying Trip.

Messrs. Seeley, Traill and Sharp made a flying trip from Pedder Bay this morning. They were out hunting yesterday and started for home at 1:30 this morning in a Columbia River fishing boat. The wind was blowing a regular hurricane and the little boat fairly flew home, under a jib, all the other sails having been lowered.

AT EVENING.

Eastward the hilltops show
Still where his wheels have run,
All golden in the glow
Of the departing sun;
Burns now a single spar
In the last crimson light—
Fades—and, above, one star
Blooms in the night.

As 'twere a jewel flower
Set in this garden blue,
Telling the twilight hour
When falls the silent dew;
As 'twere a lantern there
Lighting Diana's way
Through the dim realms of air,
With its pale ray.

Over yon purple line
See, her white face appears!
Breathe once the air divine
Steeped in her fragrant tears!
Out of this silver bath
Flowers shall emerge at dawn
Gracing the narrow path
Across the lawn.

Far in the tranquil deep
Tremble a million eyes,
Guarding the world asleep
Under the summer skies.
Night, like a mother mild,
Tenderly to her breast
Takes up her weary child
And gives it rest.

FIGHTING THE DUMPS.

The Old Settler Tells of a Boyhood Experience.

Twenty-Nine Wolves and Four Bears, Two Alive, a Pretty Good Haul for a Boy—He Modestly Disclaims All Credit, However.

"How many boys d'ye s'pose tha is nowadays, squire, who'd go out w'en they was only twelve years old, git lost in the snow in the dep's of ol' Squawkee Hill, lay ther for a week 'n' better, 'n' then buckle in 'n' fetch up on their own h'arthstun luggin' with 'em twenty-nine wolfs 'n' four b'ar, two on 'em alive? How many twelve-year-old boys d'ye think tha is nowadays ez k'd do that?" said the old settler.

"'Bout ez many ez tha ever were," replied the squire, "'n' that's not a dum one!"

"Squire," exclaimed the old settler, sternly. "Y' fergit th't I were a twelve-year-ol' wunst, don't y'?"

"No," replied the squire.

"D'ye mean to siniwate, then, th't I'm a liar, consurn ye?" roared the old settler.

"Wull, major, le's see," said the squire, provokingly. "Did you know this here twelve-year-ol' boy?"

"Gosht'lmighty!" exclaimed the old settler. "Wa'n't I him?"

"Thar I be ag'in!" said the squire. "Seems ez if I can't see the p'int to nothin' no more. 'Course! I mowt ha' know'd it if I'd unly thunk! But seems to me, major, th't I alluz heerd you was unly nine year ol' w'en y' made that big getherin' o' wolfs 'n' b'ar. Sure y' hain't put it too old, major?"

"I hain't so consarned sure, now th't y' mention it," said the old settler, mollified, "th't I wa'n't nine year ol' 'stid o' twelve. But I said I were a twelve-year-ol' 'n' I'll stick to it. But it wa'n't the luggin' in o' the twenty-nine wolfs 'n' the four b'ar, two of 'em alive, th't I keered for, or th't I'm a braggin' of now. Tha were sumpin' else went along with them wolfs 'n' b'ars th't made the mere getherin' of 'em in a small 'n' triflin' sarcumstance. Y' member, squire, how y' k'd stan' on one side o' ol' Squawkee an' look right down inter the sugar swamp clearin's, not more'n a miled away, but if y' wanted to git thar y' had to go around more'n nine miled, 'cause that side o' Squawkee were so durn steep y' couldn't git down it 'less y' jumped down 'n' rolled, 'n' fetched up at the bottom like sassage meat? Y' member that don't ye?"

The squire nodded.

"Wall, the winter I were twelve year ol', or nine year, jist ez yer min' ter hev it," continued the old settler, "my pap were way down in the dumps. I know'd w'at were the matter, 'n' the futur' looked blue. The prospec's was setch th't pap got lower 'n' lower ev'y day, 'n' I usety hef to spen' most o' my time in the woods to keep my own sperrits up. So this partic'ler day I shouldered the gun 'n' struck fer ol' Squawkee. I tramped 'way around to the fur side o' the big hill 'n' clim to the top. I got to the edge o' Skull Swamp, whar I spected to run again some wolfs, w'en the snow begun to fall ez if it were bein' dumped all in a heap outen more'n fifty thous'n' four-horse wagons. I started back fer home, but I hadn't fit my way ag'in that tumblin' snow more'n fifteen minutes 'fore I lost my bearin's, 'n didn't know no more whar I were th'n if I'd ben trampin' 'crost kentry on the moon. W'ile I were flounderin' about, I run up again a ledge o' rock, 'n' right at the foot of it I see a hole. Inter the hole I crep', 'n' I foun' myself, ez nigh ez I k'd figger out, the place bein' darker'n a tar bucket, ockypyin' pooty tol'able roomy quarters in the bosom o' that wall o' stun. I hadn't ben in thar more'n five minutes, though, 'fore I diskivered th't I wasn't the only lodger in the hole. The openin' whar I'd crep' in wa'n't more'n two foot squar', 'n consekently the light th't kim in were skeerce, but bimeby I got used to the dark, 'n off on one side o' the hole I see one big b'ar, 'n off on t'other side I see another big b'ar. They was both snoozin' away fer the winter, 'n suckin' their paws. I was right betwixt the two. I know'd tha wa'n't much danger o' the b'ars wakin' up fer a few weeks yit, 'nless sumpin' more'n common kim along to 'sturb 'em, 'n' so I stretched out fer to take a nap till the snow quit a-dumpin', 'n' I k'd crawl out 'n' dig my way home.

"I d'know how long I slept, but w'en I woke up I see the sun a shinin' a little in the openin'. I crep' outen the hole, 'n' the sight I see were amazin'. Right in front o' the ledge were a bare spot 'bout twenty foot squar'. On the right o' it 'n' on the left o' it the snow were drifted up more'n thirty foot. From the fur edge o' the spot the snow shot down in one straight stritch more'n a mile. It must have been fifty foot deep, 'n' had a pitch to it like the roof o' a barn. The hull long 'n' short of it were, squire, I were standin' on the steep side o' ol' Squawkee, with one eend o' that long snowbank at my feet 'n' t'other eend lyin' right 'mong the clearin's o' Sugar swamp! I were unly a mile fum home, but I mowt jist ez well ha' ben four hundred. I stood 'n' looked down inter Sugar swamp with a wishful eye.

"'Home o' my merry childhood!' says I, ''nless tha comes a rain soon 'n' melts these onpitying banks o' snow,' says I, 'these here two slumberin' b'ars 'll chaw my bones w'en the spring tune comes,' says I, ''n' nobody won't never hef to put flowers on my grave,' says I.

"'Sayin' w'ich, the weather bein' colder 'n Greenlan', I crep' back in the rocks 'n' snuggled down 'twixt the snorin' b'ars to git warm. A week passed away. I hadn't had nothin' to eat, 'n' natur' were gettin' her dander up. The two b'ars hadn't never winked nor moved sence I j'ined 'em. I hated to disturb either of 'em, but I had to hev meat, 'n' so, on the seventh day I took out my knife, felt ez gentle as a passin' zephyr fer the biggest b'ar's wizzen, 'n' with one gouge slit it from chin to gullet. The b'ar opened his eyes, looked up ez if he'd a notion to see w'at were goin' on, then closed 'em 'n' winched 'n' shivered a little, then gave an all-pervadin' sigh, 'n' his companion on t'other side were a wider 'n' didn't know it. Slicin'a ch'ice cut from the dead b'ar, I took it out in front o' the ledge, built a fire, cooked the b'ar meat, 'n' soon put natur' in a good humor wunst mo'e.

"Goin' back inter the hole I noticed th't fer the fust time t'other bar seemed to be gettin' oneasy. She kinder moved about 'n' grunted, 'n' seemed disturbed in her dreams.

"'Smelt her ol' man a cookin,' mebbe,' says I, turnin' over 'n' going to sleep.

"I'd know how long I were asleep, but I were woke up kinder suddent like, 'n' openin' my eyes I see t'other b'ar standin' over me, her eyes a-glarin' 'n' the giner'l expression o' her count'nance givin' me the idee th't she were consid'able het up. Fum w'at I could gather fum the looks o' things I sh'd think th't the old lady had been takin' in the hull sitiwation, 'n'th't she hed concluded not to wait till the spring time kim 'fore she chawed my bones. I begun to reach fer my knife, w'en I heard the howl o' wolfs on the outside. The b'ar heerd it, too, 'n' jumped fer the openin'. Setch a yoopin' 'n' yellin' 'n' a gnashin' 'n' a smashin', 'n' a munchin' 'n' a crunchin' ez follered I never heerd afore or sence. I crep' to the openin' 'n' peeked out. The ol' b'ar stood with her back agin the ledge, w'ile a pack o' ga'nt 'n' hungry wolfs was pitchin' inter her tryin' to gether her in. She hed swotted 'em right 'n' left till the open space were kivered with dead wolfs, 'n' still they piled up agin her. I found my gun 'n' took a hand in to help the b'ar. 'Twixt us we soon had ev'ry one o' the pack stretched dead in front o' the ledge. Then the old b'ar 'membered her grudge agin me, 'n' turned to end up the fight by finishin' me; but I put a load o' buckshot through her head, 'n' she tumbled on top o' the wolfs.

"I counted the wolfs. Tha was twenty-nine of 'em. I figgered it up quick, 'n' found th't they was worth jist two hundred and thirty-two dollars, the bounty on 'em bein' eight dollars a wolf.

"'That's enough!' I hollers, jumpin' fer joy. 'It's enough 'n' thirty-two dollars over, 'sides the two b'ar!' I hollers, jumpin' fer more joy. I hollers, jumpin' fer joy ag'in. Jis then I heerd a noise ahind me, 'n' lookin' 'round, w'at sh'd come tumblin' outen the hole but two b'ar cubs, th't I hadn't see at all! 'Jeewhizz!' I hollers, jumpin' fer some more joy. ''Sides two live b'ar that I didn't see!' I hollers. 'No more dumps fer pap!' says I.

"I took off my moc'sins 'n' cut 'em up inter thongs. 'N' I cut my powder horn straps inter thongs. Fer w'ile me 'n the old b'ar was fightin' the wolfs I had noticed sumpin'. I had noticed th't that snowbank th't pitched off twixt me 'n' Sugar swamp was kivered with a thick crust of glarin' ice. I tied the two dead b'ars and the twenty-nine dead wolfs together by the legs, stiff 'n' snug. I drug 'em to the edge o' the glarin' 'n' flarin' field o' snow. I took the two b'ar cubs one under each arm. Then I laid down amongst the b'ars 'n' the wolf, 'n' pushed 'em onter the pitchin' glare o' snow. I 'member tha was a whizz 'n' a whoo 'n' a skwush. The nex' thing I know'd I were settin' in our kitchen in Sugar swamp. They had found me in the back yard, mixed up with the b'ars 'n' the wolfs. The house were full o' neighbors, 'n' my pap, low in the dumps ez he were, were braggin' on me a standin' up 'n' gethering in twenty-nine big wolfs 'n' four b'ar, two on 'em alive.

"'Pap,' I says, 'I never thort nothin' 'bout wolfs or b'ars,' says I. 'Wolfs 'n' b'ars wa'n't nuthin' to me,' I says. 'I wa'n't fightin' wolfs 'n' b'ars,' I says. 'I were fightin' your dumps,' I says. 'I were fightin' the mortgage,' I says. ''N' thar she lays, b'gosh!' I says. 'She's riz,' I says, ''n' thirty-two dollars over, 'sides the four b'ar,' I says, 'two on 'em alive!'

"Sayin' w'ich I went out to chop wood, leavin' pap 'n' mam to rej'ice 'cause the mortgage were riz, 'n' the dumps was druv outen that corner o' the Sugar swamp deestric'."—Ed Mott, in N. Y. Sun.

UPPER COUNTRY NEWS.

Snow in the Mountains—Ore Going to the Tacoma Smelter From Vernon Creek.

Treed by Mountain Lions—Ranching, Mining and General Business Notes.

From the Inland Sentinel.]

Snow has been falling quite steadily this week in the mountains, and on Thursday there was a foot and a half at the Glacier House.

Mr. F. Roeser intends to resign the management of the Revelstoke smelter next month, and go to New York city to spend the winter.

Duncan Campbell, who bought the ranch of James Kinouff on the North Thompson for $7000, has paid over the purchase money and taken possession.

No Chinamen have been washing along the river above Revelstoke this summer to amount to anything, and no work has been done on Carne's or McCulloch Creek.

Hotel business at the Glacier has not been very good this season owing to the damp and unpleasant weather, and the smallpox scare which deterred people from travelling.

Mr. A. E. Sutton has resigned his position as manager of the Glacier House, and is temporarily in charge of the dining car Balmoral, running between Salmon Arm and Revelstoke.

One of the most enjoyable and successful events of the season was the ball held on Tuesday evening in the Pavilion under the auspices and management of the Kamloops fire brigade.

The Columbia River Hydraulic Co., at Smith Creek, gave up work early in the summer, having lost the drainage of their mine. Sol Holden will stay there during the winter, and try and find the channel again.

Ernest Otis was drowned in Seymour river last Saturday, when returning from a hunting trip. He had been at Tappen Siding cutting ties for Genelle Brothers, and went out with a man named Cowet for a hunt in the vicinity of Seymour a few days ago.

Mr. J. Valentine, the manager of the Greeley Creek shingle mill, reports a cut of about 3½ million shingles, and stock on hand about half a million. Sales were good while the mills on the coast held to an agreement as to prices, but fall business was done on a bad market. The mill was shut down two months sooner than it would have been if prices had been maintained.

Mr. John McHardy, a professional diver of Victoria, has made an arrangement with Supt. H. Abbott to lift the car load of railroad iron from the bot of the Columbia river, Revelstoke, where it has lain for two years and a half. The car contained twenty tons of rails, and lies near the lower steamboat dock embedded in the sand. The car was being transferred to a scow for shipment to Sproat for the C. & K. railway, and got the advantage of the men handling it and lurched suddenly overboard. It sunk so deep that it has never interfered with navigation.

A car load of ore passed through Kamloops last week consigned to the Tacoma Smelting Co. It was shipped from the Vermont Creek Mine, owned by Messrs. Wells and Pollock. This mine is situated near the Columbia river above Golden, and the ore is shipped by steamer to that place and thence by the C. P. R. This is the third car load sent out from that mine, two loads having been sent to the Revelstoke smelter that gave a return of 95 ounces silver and 63 per cent. lead, and it is expected that this lot will run some better. The ore is an excellent quality of galena, containing some rich gray copper that runs over 2000 ounces silver per ton. The ore has to be packed to the river 20 miles on horses, and it is the intention of the owners to put on a mule train as soon as spring opens up, and make regular shipments through the season.

From the Golden Era.]

The prospectors are daily coming in from the various fields of operations and settling into winter quarters.

The last few evenings have been frosty and at the time of writing, Wednesday, it is threatening to snow.

Samples for the World's Fair are coming in rapidly. Several boxes have arrived this week from the west. Up to date some 400 specimens are to hand.

Mr. A. Skertchley, M. E., and son have gone to Wild Horse. It is understood they are out in connection with placer workings there, which have been taken over from Mr. D. Griffith.

At the call of Mr A. P. Cummins, Gold Commissioner, an informal meeting of free miners was held at the Queen's hotel Wednesday evening, 2nd inst. Mr. Cummins in taking the chair stated that he had received a letter from the Minister of Mines, Col. Baker, in which the latter alluded to the movement on foot in parts of the West Kootenay district, looking toward a return to the old mining law, "Mineral Act, 1890," and he desired to ascertain the feeling of the miners in East Kootenay in the matter. The discussion resulted in an unanimous approval of the system of 1500 feet square locations bounded by vertical planes, but the present method of staking was condemned. Many suggestions in the way of improvements were made and finally one was advanced by Mr. Fowler which met with general approval, so far as its principle was concerned, viz., that stakes should be placed on the outcrop of a lead, and no lead should be staked blind. Mr. Fowler was then deputized to draft a petition to the Minister of Mines, embodying the sense of the meeting, which then adjourned. The petition, which has been signed by all the free miners so far approached, asks that the 1500 foot principle be retained. As to the staking it suggests a plan by which a prospector having discovered a lode, places two posts on the outcrop 1500 feet apart, thus denoting at once the direction and length of claim. Supposing the lode to dip to the east, the following notice is posted on No. 1 post: "I, ——, claim 1500 feet on this lode, running north to No. 2 stake. I claim 200 feet (for example) to the left, (west) of stake line, and 1300 feet to right (east) of stake line."

From the Revelstoke Star.]

Geo. Laforme started on Monday with a heavily laden pack train of 12 animals for Big Bend. Over $1200 worth of supplies have been taken up in two trips, this being the last this year. Mr. L. Mason, one of the owners of the Consolation Gold Mine, and Dave Ferguson accompanied the party.

The steamer Columbia on Monday had amongst her freight the machinery and outfit for a new weekly paper which is to be started in Nelson by Mr. John Houston, formerly of the Miner. The plant arrived here from Toronto, and included a large quantity of type, a new cylinder press, etc.

Archie Chisholm, of Illecillewaet, has been in town during the past week, and will probably spend the winter here. He sold a mine (the Goat Cave) to Mr. McIntosh, M.P., a few months ago. This property is to be developed next spring. Mr. Chisholm states that most of the prospectors have come in, and many have gone east for the winter. The dull season has set in, but on the whole the development work done this summer has been satisfactory. Next spring a large output will be assured, as eastern capitalists have bonded most of the mines.

Messrs. Wells and Pollock, of Golden, have just shipped a carload of ore from their Vermont Creek mine to the Tacoma smelter. The ore is a very fine quality of galena, and is expected to run about 100 oz. silver per ton. This is their third carload, having shipped two loads to the Revelstoke smelter two years ago. It is their intention to bring out a great quantity of ore by pack train in the spring for shipment to Tacoma. One can hardly find language strong enough to denounce the apathy which permits the Revelstoke smelter to lie idle while there are such vast quantities of ore close by all or most of which will have to be sent out of the country for treatment.

Nakusp has made a progressive movement, which it is hoped will be the forerunner of greater things. The sleigh road to New Denver and the Slocan mines has been commenced, about 20 men being employed on it. Everyone left in the district is contributing to the fund. About $2250 has been already subscribed, the C.P.R. Company giving $1000, New Denver $700 and Nakusp $500, the Government (which everybody thought would at least give $500 or $1000) not contributing a cent, notwithstanding Mr. Napoleon Fitzstubbs' promises of aid from that quarter. However, it is not a great disappointment, as the Slocan people have about as much faith in the Government helping them out as they have in Napoleon himself

The steam scow belonging to the C. & K. N. Co., which was launched about two weeks ago, made a trial trip to the head of the lake last Sunday. She proved to be a fast sailor, and made better time up the river than either of the steamers. As the river is getting lower daily the scow will probably be running before the month is out, as with a draught of only two or three inches she walks right over the sandbars without wetting them.

From the Miner.]

A 60-word cable was sent out from Nelson to the Old Country on Wednesday.

On the Victoria, one of the Silver King group, a rich vein of gold quartz was discovered while assessment work was being done.

A contract has been let to haul 200 tons of ore from Four Mile creek over the Nakusp sleigh road this winter.

There is a good prospect of one of Toad Mountain's most promising propositions changing hands at a good figure.

Dr. E. C. Kilbourne has taken a bond on the Lucky Jim, paying $2000 down. He has also bonded one of Jackson's claims, on Jackson creek, for $60,000.

A new statement of the adverse claim in the Shea v. Hughes mining suit has been filed. So the only effect of Mr. Walkem's decision has been to tie up the property for six or eight months.

Evergreen Billy Lynch, the locator of the Washington, has got ore on the Fremont, another of his Slocan properties, which goes 356 ozs. to the ton in silver, and 70 per cent lead, and is in the throes of a big deal over it.

Messrs. Jowett & Chadbourne have bonded the Reid and Robinson group on Four Mile Creek, Slocan Lake. A continuous vein can be traced through this group for thousands of feet. They have also bought the Northern Belle from the Noble Five boys, the Sadie from C. Chambers and his partners, and a half interest in the Herbert and Charlotte from G. O. Buchanan.

Jim Wardner passed through Nelson yesterday. He has sold his pack train, bag and baggage, to Mr. Hughes of Spokane and given him a contract to ship 1000 tons from the Freddie Lee. He was accompanied by Messrs. Wittler and McNaught of Seattle, who have bought a half interest in the Idaho. They spent a week in the Slocan country and cannot say too much in its favor. They have let a contract to ship 500 tons of ore.

Messrs. Jowett & Chadbourne have got a veritable bonanza in the Great Western. Mr. Jowett has just returned from a visit to the property. He found they had between two and three feet of ore in the face of the tunnel, about 14 inches of it solid. The pleasant surprise came when the ore, which is mixed with quartz "plumbaginous slate" (this is quoted from an expert; the Miner is guiltless) gray copper and galena went higher in silver than the solid ore. There are curious chances in mining. Messrs. Jowett & Chadbourne ran in 70 feet alongside of the lode and spent many anxious moments till a crosscut in their tunnel showed it up. While excavating for a blacksmith's forge a few feet from the tunnel they uncovered the ledge with a good showing of solid ore right on the surface. All's well that ends well.

Sometimes things don't turn out so well. Mr. Tomlinson, of the Pilot Bay smelter, went to John King and told him he wanted to buy a mine from him as everything he had located in the Cœur d'Alene and the Slocan had turned out well. Mr. King told him, he had not got a mine to sell, only a lot of wild cats he had not proved. "Well," said Mr. Tomlinson, "I'll buy a wild cat from you." Mr. Tomlinson then offered him a claim called the Bear Lake, which is near the wagon road, and on which he had found good float for $1000. They agreed to go up and see it the next day. Meantime some men had made a rich strike on this very ground and thinking it vacant had located it and were working on it. When King and Tomlinson got up to the lake they were apprised of this and took some of the ore to Kaslo and had it assayed. It went 1540 oz. silver. The claim could not be bought now for $50,000.

Mr. Carney had a narrow escape of receiving serious damage at the hands of Jack Beudwin at Kaslo on Wednesday night. Jack was wanted under a warrant, for making a gun play in Carney & Barrett's store some time back. But it appears that he stayed up on his claim on Hall Creek till a few days ago, when he returned to Nelson, and after spending Sunday in the saloons under the very nose of the police, he went up to Kaslo, apparently with the intention of laying for Mr. Carney there. When Mr. Carney arrived in Kaslo on Wednesday night, Beudwin sought him out and attacked him savagely with a knife. A man rushed in to Mr. Carney's assistance and got a stab in the leg for his pains. Mr. Carney was badly cut over the hand. The Kaslo people were alive to the situation and a reward of $250 was offered for Beudwin's apprehension. Within two hours he was safe under lock and key and is now in gaol.

Kaslo City and the mountains tributary to it are alive with deals and rumors of deals. One hundred feet on the corner of Front and Fourth streets have been bought for $3400, that is $34 per front foot, and the purchaser has refused $2500 each for the 40 feet at the corner. Lots on Front street are selling freely at from $600 to $1000 each in the main business blocks. On A avenue and other streets they are changing hands every day at from $350 to $500. Every carpenter in town has his hands full, as houses are going up in every direction.

J. S. Retallack is selling lots in Watson as fast as he can offer them. Considerably over 100 are already sold, nearly all to men who know the country well, and who are all convinced that its great natural advantages of position will make it a real good camp. All the lots on the main street, up to which the wagon road goes, were sold in the first day or two, and are now being resold at an advance of from $25 to $100.

The last consignment of the carload of Dardanelles ore reached Kaslo on Thursday. Mr. Coy will personally take it to Tacoma, and expects to considerably astonish mining men with the amount it will net him. It is wonderfully clean ore and averages considerably over 500 oz. of silver to the ton.

Some days since a syndicate of Victoria and Vancouver capitalists bought 153 lots in Kaslo on the south side of the creek. This nearly exhausts the lots already platted in the townsite, and arrangements are being made to have some land surveyed into lots at once.

E. E. Coy has bonded the Big Bertha, an eastern extension of the Dardanelles, for $44,000. On this claim they struck the Dardanelles lead 1000 feet lower than the working shaft on the latter claim.

Colonel Russell reports having 18 or 20 tons of ore on his dumps at the Silver Glance, and as that ore assays something like 2000 oz. of silver on the average, to the ton, that means money.

Messrs. O. P. Garrison and Marks have bonded the Montezuma for $25,000, $3000 paid down.

From the Vernon News.]

The threshing season is just completed at the Mission. Christian's machine finished at Guisachan this week.

A few days ago a man came down to Osoyoos from a creek that runs into Kettle river, and reported being treed for three hours by a band of mountain lions. These animals are quite distinct from the puma which are found in other parts of the province, and are now but rarely met with.

Good finds have recently been reported from the Boundary Creek district. A noted one is that of John H. East, who has discovered a good claim, the Mineral King, which is believed to be a continuation of the Mountain Chief, and the ore is free-milling.

Coyotes are quite frequently seen in White Valley and an occasional one is shot, but they are much too cautious to permit of much chance to realize through the Government's bounty on coyotes. Until they are exterminated there will be no chance of prosecuting sheep-raising to any profitable extent.

Mr. Thompson bought the Wide West from Messrs. Dexter, Kline, Bowen and Sharpneck for $17,000. The Wide West has a milling test with a small sampling mill of over $19 in free milling gold, and will average fully $30 in free milling gold.

The residents of White Valley are in great hopes of better prospects of increasing activity in the Cherry Creek mining camp. An old Cariboo miner has recently signified his intention to work a hydraulic claim at Cherry Creek, and with a start once made, the future may develop some wonderful results, which will draw public attention more in this direction.

Mr. Thos. Elliot's appointment, as postmaster at Fairview, has not yet taken effect, but he will be duly installed in a few days. Although the postmaster at Vernon, acting on instructions from headquarters, has been forwarding mails southward to Penticton, Fairview and Osoyoos, three times a week, in some cases no attention has been paid by the postmasters of the lower country, and no mail bags have been sent back by them.

A standing and important subject for discussion in this part, at present, is that of the unnecessary changes in mining regulations made by the last Legislature. In the finding of the stakes inconvenience is especially experienced. Two stakes are all that is now required, while under the last law three were necessary, and the intervening trees had to be blazed. Now a prospector on finding a ledge has to hunt over fifty acres of trees, brush, rocks, &c., to find if any one has been before him in staking out the claim.

COAL

(FORMERLY THE VANCOUVER COAL CO.).

ARE THE LARGEST COAL PRODUCERS ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

THE NANAIMO COAL (Used principally for Gas and Domestic Purposes.) | THE SOUTH FIELD COAL (Steam Fuel).

THE NEW WELLINGTON COAL

House and Steam Coal are mined by this Company only.

THE "NANAIMO" COAL gives a large percentage of Gas, high Illuminating power unequalled by any other bituminous Gas Coal in the world, and a superior quality of Coke.

THE "SOUTH FIELD" COAL is now used by all the leading Steamship Lines on the Pacific.

THE "NEW WELLINGTON" COAL, which was introduced early in the present year, has already become a favorite, especially for domestic purposes. It is a clean, hard coal; makes a bright and cheerful fire, and its lasting qualities make it the most economical fuel in the market.

The several Mines of the Company are connected with their Wharves at Nanaimo and Departure Bay, where ships of the largest tonnage are loaded at all states of the tide. Special dispatch is given to Mail and Ocean Steamers.
